HIRAM JOHNSON IS LAID TO REST

London, Ky., July 6—Funeral services for Judge Hiram Johnson were held here Wednesday. From early morning until almost sundown the streets were filled with people from Laurel and adjoining counties who came by train, in wagons, on horseback and afoot to show their devotion and pay their last respects to the wonderful little man, who, in six months, established a profound respect for the law in his judicial district by ridding it of moonshining, bootlegging, feuds and other prevalent forms of crime. By so doing he made this part of the Cumberland peaceable and law abiding. His work became an ideal throughout the country and his name is spoken with respect and admiration far beyond the boundaries of his native hills.

From 9 o'clock until noon his body lay in state in the Laurel courthouse, where he closed his last term of court two weeks ago. Floral tributes from many counties besides Laurel, Clay and Jackson, were received and hundreds of messages of sympathy came to his family, many being from distant states. The large courtroom was crowded for over three hours as hundreds of people filed silently and sadly past the bier and looked with tear-filled eyes upon the face of the man who was not afraid to do his duty, though it cost him his life. The entire service was simple and deeply sincere. A short, impressive eulogy was spoken by Miss Grace Wilson, teacher and community worker of Manchester. Funeral services were held at the home at 2 o'clock and burial at Pine Grove cemetery late in the afternoon.

At a meeting of citizens of the three counties of this judicial district, held here Wednesday, the Hiram Johnson Memorial Association was organized for the purpose of raising funds for the erection of a memorial to Judge Johnson upon the public square in London, his home town. Judge A. T. W. Manning, of Manchester, who was appointed Wednesday to succeed Judge Johnson, was elected president; former State Inspector and Examiner, Nat B. Sewell, of London, secretary, and former Congressman D. C. Edwards, of London, treasurer. N. U. Bond, of Jackson county; Dr. J. L. Anderson, of Clay, and Clarence J. Siple, of Laurel, with the three officers of the organization, were made the executive committee. Plans will be made at a meeting to carry out the purposes of the association. Many contributions already have been pledged, a number being from admirers of Judge Johnson in other parts of the state.

ARMORY PROVIDED FOR N. C. COMPANY

Final arrangements for the success of the Hospital Company of the national guard being recruited here were completed Thursday at the meeting of the Madison fiscal court when the court agreed to finance establishment and maintenance of an armory for the boys. The act of 1920 makes it compulsory on fiscal courts to provide such armories and the magistrates had no alternative in the matter. Dr. O. F. Hume, as commandant of the company, has entered into a contract with R. J. McKee for use of the old skating rink on First street as soon as it can be prepared. Dr. Hume believes it will make an ideal armory. The company is rapidly attaining full strength. JACKSON CO. LOSES FROM POOR ROADS

Thousands of bushels of apples are rotting under the trees in Jackson county on account of inability to get the crop to market, because of lack of roads to Richmond and other places, said Squire W. M. Hurst, of Clover Bottom, who is in Richmond on a short business trip. He is accompanied by J. S. Brockman, a prominent farmer of the Sand Gap section. Squire Hurst says that he expects to hear of every bee in Jackson county having been killed from eating the rotten apples, so that Jackson county is suffering a double loss from its lack of good roads.

Squire Hurst is the pioneer good roads man of his section. He is an ardent booster for the proposed new highway and wants to see it built over the historic Big Hill. He believes that this route is favored by a large majority of the Jackson county good roads boosters. The highway matter is now before the State Highway Department which has agreed to make surveys and estimates of cost of the two proposed routes. State Engineer Boggs has agreed to give the highway state aid next year and everybody in Jackson and Madison counties is boosting to get this road which will mean so much to both communities.

L. & N. Sending New Men To Corbin Shops

Louisville, Ky., July 6—The Louisville & Nashville railroad is recruiting men as fast as it can to send to the shops at Corbin, it was learned here today. Superintendent R. C. Morrison has gone to that place from Knoxville, Tenn., accompanied by the trainmaster and roadmaster of the Knoxville division.

The congestion of freight from coal areas of the Cumberland valley menaced freight transportation between Corbin and Knoxville, due to congestion in Corbin yards, leaving little trackage clear for the passage of through trains, it was said.

Passenger service on the L. & N. is not materially delayed.

The tieup of traffic at Corbin was occasioned by the walkout of practically 2,000 men at the L. & N. shops there. Corbin is the junction of the Kentucky division, the Knoxville division, the Cumberland valley division and the Louisville division. The point is always one of the most congested on the entire L. & N. system. Loading of coal cars from the Cumberland division is heavy in normal times and recently the volume of coal that has been coming from these mines has been unusually heavy. The capacity of these yards is about 3,000 cars.
